
Nebula Terms of Service and Risk Disclosure

Effective date: July 25, 2026 | Version 2026-07-v2 | Provider: Orion Solana LLC d/b/a Zero-G Trading

Please read this carefully.

This is a legally binding agreement between you and Orion Solana LLC, doing business as Zero-G Trading ("Zero-G," "we," "us"). It covers important risks, the configuration and usage rules you must follow, and our billing, refund, and dispute policies. By subscribing to or using Nebula, you agree to everything below. If you do not agree, do not subscribe to or use Nebula.

The short version

This summary is for convenience only and does not replace the full Terms below.

- Trading futures involves substantial risk. You can lose money. Evaluations and funded accounts can be lost, and you may never become profitable.
- Nebula is a tool that can help you, not a guarantee that you will make money. We never guarantee passing an evaluation, becoming funded, keeping a funded account, or trading live.
- Nebula is currently configured exclusively for the Nasdaq-100 E-mini futures contract (NQ). BTC, ES, MNQ, cryptocurrency, stocks, options, and all other instruments are unsupported unless Zero-G expressly authorizes them in writing.
- Each connected account may hold no more than one NQ E-mini contract at any time. Do not pyramid, scale in, average down, double, use martingale sizing, duplicate the strategy, or otherwise increase an account's exposure above one NQ Mini unless Zero-G expressly authorizes it in writing.
- You must follow all approved usage guidelines, including the risk locks, NQ-only restriction, one-contract limit, and continuous-operation instruction. If you deviate and receive a bad result, that is your responsibility and is not grounds for a refund or payment dispute.
- Markets are unpredictable. Volatility and whiplash moves will happen, and no algorithm or indicator can predict or prevent them.
- This is not financial advice. Zero-G is a technology provider, not a broker, RIA, CTA, or financial advisor.

1. Acceptance of these Terms

These Terms of Service and Risk Disclosure (the "Terms") govern your access to and use of the Nebula software, indicator, automation relay, related tools, documentation, onboarding materials, and Discord community (collectively, "Nebula" or the "Service").

By creating an account, subscribing, clicking to accept, typing your legal name, or using the Service, you represent that you have read, understood, and agree to be bound by these Terms and by the additional configuration and usage instructions presented during onboarding. If you are accepting on behalf of an entity, you represent that you are authorized to bind that entity.

Your electronic acceptance record may include the exact document version and hash, the acknowledgments displayed to you, your typed legal name, email address, Discord identity, TradingView username, IP address, user agent, Stripe identifiers, and server timestamp.

2. What Nebula is, and what it is not

Nebula is a technology product: a trading indicator and automation tool that generates and can relay orders to your connected trading platform based on predefined logic. The current approved configuration is exclusively for the Nasdaq-100 E-mini futures contract (NQ).

Zero-G is a technology provider only. Zero-G is not a broker-dealer, futures commission merchant, introducing broker, registered investment adviser (RIA), commodity trading advisor (CTA), commodity pool operator, fiduciary, or financial planner, and does not hold, manage, or have access to your funds or trading accounts. Nothing we provide is personalized to your financial situation.

3. Not financial, investment, or trading advice

Nothing provided by Zero-G, including Nebula, its signals, its statistics, our documentation, our Discord, or any communication from our team or community, constitutes financial, investment, tax, legal, or trading advice, or a recommendation or solicitation to buy, sell, or hold any instrument. All trading decisions are your own. You are solely responsible for evaluating the merits and risks of any trade and for your own outcomes.

4. Eligibility

You must be at least 18 years old and of legal age and capacity to enter into this agreement in your jurisdiction. You must use the Service in compliance with all laws and with the rules of any brokerage, platform, exchange, or proprietary trading firm you use. You are responsible for determining whether your use of the Service is permitted where you live and by the firms and platforms you use.

5. Required configuration and use

Nebula is designed to perform as intended only when used in accordance with the configuration and usage requirements provided during onboarding and in our current documentation. These requirements are material conditions of your authorized use of the Service.

5.1 NQ only

Nebula is currently configured exclusively for the Nasdaq-100 E-mini futures contract (NQ). You must not apply, connect, map, route, copy, or otherwise use Nebula with Bitcoin or any other cryptocurrency, ES, MNQ, stocks, options, or any instrument other than the approved NQ contract.

Additional instruments may be supported in the future, but Zero-G makes no promise that support will be added or that it will be added by any particular date. An instrument is unsupported unless and until Zero-G expressly authorizes that instrument in writing and provides the applicable configuration instructions.

5.2 One NQ Mini per connected account

Each connected account may hold an aggregate open position of no more than one (1) NQ E-mini contract at any time, unless Zero-G expressly provides different written instructions.

You must not pyramid, scale in, average down, double, use martingale or progressive sizing, send an add-to-position instruction, run duplicate copies or instances of the strategy against the same account, or use any configuration that can cause an account's open NQ exposure to exceed one contract. If multiple accounts are separately connected and authorized, the one-contract limit applies separately to each account.

5.3 Risk locks

Configure a daily profit lock of $750 and a daily loss or drawdown limit of $1,000, or the replacement settings expressly provided by Zero-G in current written onboarding materials.

5.4 No unauthorized substitutions or modifications

Do not substitute Micros for Minis, change the instrument, increase quantity, alter order-routing fields, duplicate alerts, change sizing multipliers, or modify the approved strategy, indicator, webhook, or automation configuration unless Zero-G expressly authorizes the change in writing.

5.5 Continuous operation

Leave the system running as directed. Do not turn the system on and off in an attempt to avoid, time, or sit out losing streaks. Historical statistics may indicate that consistent operation has produced more representative results, but individual losing trades and losing periods will occur. Manually enabling and disabling the system changes its behavior and results and is not the approved use of the Service.

5.6 Onboarding and setup

Complete onboarding and follow all setup, platform, connection, account, symbol, sizing, and risk instructions. You are responsible for confirming the approved settings before enabling automation and after making any platform or account change.

5.7 Deviation from the required configuration

If you deviate from these requirements, you do so entirely at your own risk. Results produced while using an unsupported instrument, excessive size, duplicate strategy, altered risk setting, or any other unauthorized configuration are outside the intended and authorized use of the Service.

Zero-G makes no representation about, and has no liability for, outcomes caused by an unauthorized configuration or deviation. Failure to follow these requirements is not a valid basis for a performance-based refund or payment dispute.

6. No guarantee of results

Zero-G does not and cannot guarantee any particular result. We do not guarantee that you will pass any proprietary trading firm evaluation, obtain or keep a funded account, qualify to trade live, or achieve any level of profit. While historical statistics may show outcomes that are favorable on average, averages are not promises and do not predict your individual results. Individual accounts can and do lose money, evaluations can be failed, funded accounts can be lost, and you may never become profitable.

Nebula is offered on the clear basis that you can potentially make money, not that you will make money.

7. Risk disclosure

Trading futures and leveraged products involves substantial risk of loss and is not suitable for every investor. You should only trade with risk capital you can afford to lose. You acknowledge and accept the following:

- You can lose some, all, or, depending on your account and leverage, more than the amount you deposit.
- Markets are volatile and unpredictable. Sudden reversals, gaps, and whiplash moves can and will occur, and no algorithm, indicator, or system can predict or prevent them.
- Automated systems can be affected by market conditions, connectivity, latency, duplicate alerts, platform outages, mapping errors, data errors, slippage, and other factors outside our control.
- Proprietary trading firm accounts are subject to that firm's rules, and those rules can change. Violating them can cause loss of an account regardless of Nebula.
- Unsupported instruments and unauthorized configurations can behave materially differently from the approved NQ configuration.

Performance information is not a promise

Any performance figures, statistics, equity curves, or member results we share are historical or illustrative, may include hypothetical or simulated results, are not audited unless expressly stated, and are not indicative of future results. Individual results vary and are not typical. Hypothetical and simulated results have inherent limitations and do not represent actual trading.

8. Your responsibilities and assumption of risk

You are solely responsible for your accounts, platform connections, instrument selection, contract mapping, risk settings, position sizing, and every trade placed in your accounts, whether placed manually or by the Service under your configuration. You are responsible for reviewing your settings and monitoring the Service and your accounts.

By using Nebula, you knowingly and voluntarily assume all risks associated with trading, including the risk of losing money, losing an evaluation or funded account, and never becoming profitable.

9. Third-party platforms and firms

Nebula works with third-party platforms and firms such as TradingView, order-routing services, Tradovate, TopstepX, brokers, exchanges, and proprietary trading firms. Zero-G does not control and is not responsible for those third parties, including their availability, execution, fees, data, symbol mapping, quantity settings, rule changes, account decisions, or outages.

Your relationship with each third party is governed by that party's own terms, and you are responsible for complying with them.

10. Subscription, billing, refunds, and chargebacks

10.1 Billing and trial conversion

Nebula is offered as a recurring subscription on the plan displayed at checkout. If your offer includes a free trial, the checkout page will disclose the trial length, the recurring price that applies after the trial, and how to cancel before a charge.

By subscribing, you authorize Zero-G and its payment processors to charge a payment method you add on a recurring basis, monthly or annually according to your selected plan, at the displayed price plus applicable taxes until you cancel. If no payment method is available when a no-card trial ends, the subscription may cancel automatically.

10.2 Cancellation

You may cancel at any time through the online subscription-management process made available by Zero-G or by contacting support@zerogtrading.com. Cancellation stops future renewals. If you already paid for a billing period, access ordinarily continues through the end of that paid period unless access is terminated for a violation of these Terms. Amounts already paid are non-refundable except where a refund is required by applicable law, and partial periods are not prorated.

10.3 No performance-based refunds

Because Nebula is software whose outcomes depend on market conditions, third-party systems, and how you configure and use it, subscription fees are non-refundable except where required by applicable law. The following are not grounds for a performance-based refund: dissatisfaction with trading results, trading losses, failing an evaluation, losing a funded account, not becoming profitable, using an unsupported instrument, exceeding the one-contract limit, or otherwise failing to follow the required configuration.

10.4 Contact us before disputing a charge

If you have a billing issue or concern, you agree to contact us first at support@zerogtrading.com and give us a reasonable opportunity to investigate and resolve it before initiating a chargeback or payment dispute.

10.5 Payment disputes

You agree not to initiate a chargeback, reversal, or payment dispute for a charge for which a refund is not due under these Terms, including a charge disputed solely because of trading results, losses, failure to pass an evaluation, or results produced through an unsupported or unauthorized configuration.

You authorize Zero-G to provide the applicable Terms, your electronic acceptance record, access and onboarding records, relevant usage records, billing records, and communications as evidence in response to a payment dispute. Zero-G may suspend or terminate access associated with a disputed payment and may exercise any other rights available under applicable law.

Nothing in these Terms eliminates a right that cannot lawfully be waived.

11. License and intellectual property

Subject to these Terms and your active subscription, Zero-G grants you a limited, personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license to use Nebula for your own trading in the approved configuration.

You may not share, resell, sublicense, redistribute, publish, copy, decompile, reverse engineer, or attempt to derive the underlying logic of the Service, or use it to build a competing product. All intellectual property in the Service remains Zero-G's.

12. Disclaimer of warranties

The Service is provided "as is" and "as available," without warranties of any kind, express or implied, including implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, non-infringement, accuracy, or that the Service will be uninterrupted, timely, secure, or error-free. Zero-G does not warrant any result from use of the Service.

13. Limitation of liability

To the fullest extent permitted by law, Zero-G and its owners, members, employees, and affiliates will not be liable for trading losses or for indirect, incidental, special, consequential, exemplary, or punitive damages, or lost profits, arising out of or relating to the Service, even if advised of the possibility.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, Zero-G's total aggregate liability for a claim relating to the Service will not exceed the amount of the most recent payment you made to Zero-G for the Service. These limitations do not apply to liability that cannot lawfully be limited.

14. Indemnification

You agree to indemnify and hold harmless Zero-G and its owners, members, employees, and affiliates from claims, losses, liabilities, and expenses, including reasonable legal fees, arising out of your use of the Service, your trading activity, your violation of these Terms, or your violation of law or a third-party right, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law.

15. Suspension and termination

Zero-G may suspend or terminate access for a violation of these Terms, an unsupported instrument, an unauthorized configuration, abuse, nonpayment, a disputed payment, or another lawful reason. Upon termination, your license to use the Service ends.

Sections that by their nature should survive termination, including risk disclosures, payment obligations, disclaimers, limitation of liability, indemnification, and dispute terms, will survive.

16. Dispute resolution, governing law, and class-action waiver

These Terms are governed by the laws of the State of California, without regard to conflict-of-laws rules.

Binding arbitration

Except for the carve-outs below, any dispute, claim, or controversy arising out of or relating to these Terms or the Service will be resolved by final and binding individual arbitration administered by the American Arbitration Association (AAA) under its applicable rules. The arbitration will be seated in San Diego County, California, and may proceed by written submissions, telephone, or video where the rules allow. Judgment on the award may be entered in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Class-action and jury-trial waiver

You and Zero-G agree that each may bring claims against the other only in an individual capacity and not as a plaintiff or class member in a purported class, collective, or representative proceeding. The arbitrator may not consolidate more than one person's claims or preside over a class or representative proceeding. You and Zero-G waive any right to a jury trial to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Carve-outs

Nothing in this section prevents either party from bringing an individual claim in small-claims court if it qualifies or seeking injunctive or equitable relief in a court of competent jurisdiction in San Diego County, California, to protect intellectual property or confidential information. If the class-action waiver is found unenforceable as to a particular claim, that claim will proceed in court while the remaining claims proceed in arbitration.

17. Changes to these Terms

We may update these Terms from time to time. Updated Terms apply prospectively when accepted or as otherwise permitted by applicable law. A material change does not retroactively replace the version associated with a prior electronic acceptance record.

We will preserve prior document versions and acceptance records. Continued use after legally sufficient notice may constitute acceptance where permitted, but Zero-G may require affirmative acceptance of a new version before continued access.

18. Miscellaneous

These Terms, together with onboarding materials and policies referenced here, are the entire agreement between you and Zero-G regarding the Service. If a provision is found unenforceable, the remaining provisions remain in effect. Our failure to enforce a provision is not a waiver. You may not assign these Terms; we may assign them as permitted by law.

19. Contact and notices

Questions about these Terms may be sent to support@zerogtrading.com. Legal notices to Zero-G may be sent to Orion Solana LLC d/b/a Zero-G Trading at that address, and we may provide required notices to the email address associated with your account.

Acknowledgment and acceptance

By affirmatively accepting these Terms and subscribing, you acknowledge and agree that:

- You have read, understood, and agree to these Terms.
- You understand that trading futures involves substantial risk and that you can lose money, including possibly more than you deposit.
- You understand that Nebula is currently approved only for NQ E-mini futures and that BTC, ES, MNQ, cryptocurrency, stocks, options, and other instruments are unsupported unless Zero-G expressly authorizes them in writing.
- You agree that each connected account will hold no more than one NQ E-mini contract at any time unless Zero-G expressly authorizes a different limit in writing.
- You will not pyramid, scale in, average down, double, use martingale sizing, duplicate the strategy, or otherwise increase an account's NQ exposure above one contract.
- You agree to use the $750 daily profit lock and $1,000 daily loss limit unless Zero-G provides replacement settings in writing.
- You understand Nebula is a tool, not a guarantee that you will make money, pass an evaluation, become funded, retain a funded account, or trade live.
- You accept that deviating from the required configuration is at your own risk and is not grounds for a performance-based refund or payment dispute.
- You understand this is not financial advice and that Zero-G is a technology provider, not a broker, RIA, CTA, or fiduciary.
- You accept responsibility for your accounts, configuration, trading decisions, and results.

By typing your legal name and continuing, you electronically sign and agree to the Nebula Terms of Service and Risk Disclosure, version 2026-07-v2.

Zero-G Trading is a technology provider, not a broker, RIA, CTA, or fiduciary. We never promise profit. Trading involves substantial risk of loss, including the risk of total loss, and is not suitable for every investor. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Nothing here is financial advice.